

Common Dreams Explained

By Melody Paasch

Introduction

We all have dreams that elude us at one time or another, and most of us have dreams that are common to all humans in specific culture. These dreams usually depict a process that our subconscious may be working through. However, we believe that Creator can and does speak through any and all opportunities and dreams are indeed, one of His favorites. This small booklet is to give you some ideas about what these common dreams might mean to you. Be aware that there is never a definitive meaning of an element in every dream in which it appears, but this will give you a good simple place to begin. Happy dreaming!!!! Please join us for more information and services on www.nowinterpretthis.org or www.melodypaasch.com

The Dream You Are At the Airport

You are either "waiting" to go somewhere or you just "arrived".

You may be in a "holding" pattern. You could also be waiting to "receive" someone or something, coming into your sphere. What you are waiting for may be coming in on a large ship. It may be carrying great weight and certain impact. It could be a wave or move of something Creator is offering, that you will not want to miss. Be patient and clarity will come. Stay alert to your surroundings and be ready for whatever action is required. Ask Creator what is necessary to be prepared to leave, arrive or receive.

The Dream That You Are Flying

When you are flying in a dream or teaching someone to fly in a dream, it means that you freely operate in what you are gifted for. This will feel like having "complete" freedom in life and like you are on top of your game, so to speak. That you are "above" your circumstances in other words. You will usually wake feeling joy, well-being and a sense of great peace. Creator is telling you that you WILL SOON or ALREADY ARE flowing in your gifts and talents! Congratulations!

The Dream That You Are Unclothed In Public

You are visible to those around you and you are "completely exposed." This is about transparency. "All" of you is showing. In other words, you cannot hide your thoughts, feelings or emotions. They are right out there for everyone to observe. The up side is that your heart of hearts is clearly seen. The down side is that impure motives may be uncovered as well. Look closely to see if you may need to act in humility to resolve issues where your "stuff is showing." When correct or pure motives of the heart are exposed, restitution can come in the end.

The Dream You Are in School Again

You are entering an arena of advancement, and it will take you learning a new skill. Or you have "failed" to learn an important lesson in life, and you have arrived "again" at the missed level of education. It could be in relationships, your occupation, or responsiveness to conflict. Any area where you have a deficit in what you are called to do. Creator is good to show us where we are impaired, to get us to our intended success.

Ask Him how to respond, to make sure that you gain the knowledge and wisdom you need for this promotion in life.

The Dream You are Losing Your Hair

Save the money you plan to spend on the Rogaine Growth Stimulants. Hair is a covering over your mind. Yes, it can be a woman's glory, and can represent "shame" when lost, but it is also depictive of your paradigms. Thus, losing hair is often making way for new mindsets and thought processes. Get ready to think in a "new" way and be surprised at your responses!

The Dream You Are Being Chased

This is usually what we call a "411" to let you know that something is "hounding" you. You CAN'T get away from it! It could be an unpleasant situation, a controlling relationship or a repetitive pattern in your family line. The good news is, if you "turn and face" what chases you it loses its power to "overcome" you. Check your life to see if in the landscape there is something "hounding," gnawing at you. This is the place you can find that aggressive culprit. Ask Creator for the best way to "deal" with it once and for all.

The Dream Where You Are Falling

This is a good indication that "some" area of your life is COMPLETELY OUT OF CONTROL!!!! You may need to respond by altering some situations around you by:

- 1) Setting new and healthier boundaries.
- 2) Getting to a geographically "safer" place.
- 3) Shifting from an "overly active" agenda.
- 4) Pulling out of an "overwhelming" obligation.
- 5) Focusing more on "priority" goals.
- 6) Gently "bowing out" of an activity you were not equipped for.

In all these things, do not forget to give yourself some grace. Above all, don't forget to "inhale" and "exhale" slowly and deeply.

Are You Dreaming About Tiny People or Tiny Sized Babies?

This is likely a reference to yourself or people around you, with some form of "stunted" growth. In other words, their stature is not completely developed. This might also mean that "character" may be lacking as well. Areas of stunted growth in our lives tend to shut down specific avenues of our development, forward motion and sometimes our success. The places of under-development in our lives can often look like a dwarf in our dreams. What are these representations operating in? What is the character or emotion they carry in your dream. This is your clue.

Are You Losing Your Teeth?

If you are losing your teeth in a dream, it may be because you're having trouble processing information. You have no capacity for "chewing things up" so to speak. Maybe you are not ready to assimilate in some areas. You lack wisdom and understanding.

Are You Pregnant or Have A Baby?

Babies in dreams usually represent a "new thing." It could be a new vision or endeavor. It might be a new business or structure of some sort. You may be needing to birth something new! Or you may have the responsibility of caring for something new. Of course, a baby in a dream can also be a baby in the natural at times.

Are You In Your Childhood Home?

Being in your childhood home almost always represents you being affected by something from your past. Something that may have been set or established in your emotions or psyche as a child. Your childhood home can also relate to generational and family line issues, be that positive or negative.

Are You With Your Ex?

If you are dreaming about a former romantic relationship, it is often depicting an area where you had come into agreement or covenant with something in your past. Be that a positive or negative element. It does not necessarily represent your ex. Sometimes the use of a specific ex can be about their character or the meaning of their name. They very frequently convey a message about something that is "trying to return" to your affection. Be wary!

Are you In The Bathroom or Using The Bathroom?

Bathrooms represent the place of elimination and often of cleansing and deliverance. If you need to pee badly, you may simply need a "release" in something. If you need to poop, well that's a different story. You may need some real-time deliverance in some areas of your life. If you find yourself defecating on furniture or inappropriate place you are probably spewing your negative issues all over everything and most likely, everyone.

For a deeper understanding, please visit us at www.nowinterpretthis.org, melodypaasch.com, or join Melody and her crew on YouTube for her "Bridging Realms" podcast where she guides you through interpreting dreams and more!